Firefighter Ho Wai-ho died in the line of duty. The independent committee praised him for putting the rescue of others above his own life in perilous conditions, saying he exemplified the highest standards of selflessness and dedication.

Total number of victims

168

The blaze, Hong Kong's worst in seven decades, raged for 43 hours and ripped through seven of Wang Fuk Court's eight towers. It claimed 168 lives, left 79 others injured and displaced nearly 5,000 residents.

Remembering the Tai Po fire victims

Hong Kong is still healing one year after a devastating blaze engulfed Tai Po's Wang Fuk Court residential complex. Survivors are trying to move forward while grieving for loved ones – parents, spouses, siblings and children – they lost without having the chance to say goodbye. The petals symbolise the lives of those held forever in the hearts of their families, friends and the city.
